

Permission to Choose

This is where reflection becomes movement.

Once someone has paused, named what they want, allowed themselves to be seen, and released the need to keep everyone comfortable, they are ready to choose.

Not the perfect choice.

Not the forever choice.

The next honest choice.

This section could help participants identify one aligned action, decision, conversation, or commitment.

Clarity grows when you move.

